

I WON'T ATTACK
THAT FOX
ANYMORE!
I'LL LEAVE
THIS CITY TOO.
PLEASE
FORGIVE ME...

WELL...
AS LONG AS NYOU
GET IT.

AND JUST LIKE THAT,

CATNIP SMOKE BOMB!!

AAAA!
BOSS!

ボア
THROW!!

KURONEKO!
NICE!

SHIT!
THERE WAS ANOTHER
ONE HIDING...

THOSE
LOOK DOWN
UPON
THE
GOOD WILL...

ねこじゃらしピンタ
鉄縄張手!
IRON WHIP SLAP!

ALRIGHT!

Yo G-P here.

Eat, work, sleep, repeat. So I wake up after my usual post morning shift nap, thought "When was the last time I worked on Kitsune Spirit again? 28th March..." and here we are. I still haven't touched my Manga backlog. It keeps growing and growing. Well I don't mind. I bought some games I've been meaning to play for ages and got more into books. Murakami for instance. Dude knows how to tell a story with simple words. Check out book one and two of 1Q84. Not sure about book three. The story came to a final conclusion in one and two and the synopsis of the third book isn't really churning my butter. I'm not sure how much this applies to book authors, but people these days don't know when to actually end a story or a franchise. They keep on squeezing and releasing, even when the spark is long gone. Anyway, I got four consecutive days off during easter. We'll see about the next chapter then.

Another day, another bottle of Montepulciano.
Watch One Punch Man S2 my lads. Shit's good.

A CAT IS FINE TOO

This better nyot awaken anything in me... Oh, who am I kidding?
I've already seen enough monster girls... nya.
